Once you moved from the base model to an LE, the vast majority came with Toyota's premium-sound JBL audio system. While it doesn't sound as good as an aftermarket system we sell here at Perfectionist, it did sound much better than Toyota's basic audio. It played louder and had more bass. Move forward to 2012 and the JBL system is only available on Toyota's top-of-the-line vehicle, and it was still an option, not standard equipment.

Toyota calls this system a system sustainable of 440 watts, well that is not exactly true. 440 watts is more like the peak power of the system as the added RMS of all the speakers + sub put it somewhere in the 220-230 watt range. It appears that this system has the power of an aftermarket headunit's built in amplifier + a sub.
