Twine Tie Baler Baler ...

The knotter on a Massey Ferguson baler is what ties the twine. This component can be adjusted by changing the density of the bale, which affects its weight. The knotter has rotating discs that make loops out of the ends of the twine, and a needle on the baler wraps the twine around the bale.

of my experience is
with New Holland
balers but the
principles are very similar. The first thing to do is to try and find out why both needles
broke.
